Ex-Prime Minister Urges Sacrifice

Nations must be willing to sacrifice part of their sovereignty "to obtain a greater freedom."

This was the message brought by former Prime Minister Clement Attlee of Great Britain to a Coliseum audience last night.

Unless civilization faces its problems and finds solutions, it may be nearing its end, the speaker said. Earl Attlee, now a member of the British House of Lords, said, "Any little war may lead to a major war," and a major war seems sure to mean the full scale use of atomic weapons.

The earl advocated the creation of an international police force as a practical solution toward erasing the possibility of war. "The world is grown up enough to do away with war," Attlee said.

Present-day Russia, however, with its "second generation" Communists, is less revolutionary than it once was, he stated. The country is developing a large and comfortable middle class which tends to lessen war-like tendencies, he added.

Attlee concluded by saying that he hoped to see the United States take the lead in working to bring the world under a rule of law rather than of force.

Attlee spoke to a Community Concert and Lecture Series audience of an estimated 4,000 persons at Memorial Coliseum. He was introduced by President Dickey.

Former Kernel Editor Takes Job With UPI

James Bland, UK journalism graduate and former editor of the Kernel, has resigned his job with the Owensboro Messenger to accept a position with the United Press International at Harrisburg, Pa.

Bland assisted during the basketball seasons in the sports department of the Lexington Herald. He will take up his new work Nov. 10.

Informal Dress

There is a sentiment on campus for wearing school-day clothes to the Vanderbilt game tomorrow. Kernel Society Editor Ann Roberts reports on page five of this issue. The idea was also advocated at Monday's Student Congress meeting, said Kernel reporter Billee Rose Paxton.

Army ROTC Adds New Instructor

The Army ROTC announced today the appointment of Lt. Colonel Glenn W. Zarger as assistant professor of Military Science and Tactics.

The announcement was made by Colonel William E. Grubbs, professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Colonel Zarger was on assignment at Fort Hood, Texas, where he served as Commanding Officer of the 2nd Medium Tank Battalion of the 35th Armored Division.

He is a combat veteran of the 4th Infantry Division in World War II and served with General Headquarters, Far East Command during the Korean conflict.

Zarger has been awarded the Silver Star Medal with the Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Bronze Star Medal, both for valor and merit. He also received the Combat Infantryman Badge.

A graduate of Gettysburg College, he received his Bachelor of Arts Degree and was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

He will reside at 228 Derby Drive with his wife, Norma, and their three children.

Attlee Amuses Audience With Lecture At SUB

By PHILIP COX

The Rt. Hon. Earl Clement Attlee, looking every inch the retired British statesman, walked into the Student Union Building Wednesday afternoon to what John Carter of the Central Kentucky Concert and Lecture Series called a surprisingly large crowd.

Earl Attlee, who is making a lecture tour of several American universities, told the Kernel that he is very much interested in what he is doing as he finds college students especially alert.

Asked what he thought of the American election campaign tactics, looking slightly amused he replied, "It's not our system, it's the one that suits you."

In the SUB Music Room, Earl Attlee launched into an amusing hour of questions and answers.

He said he felt "on the shelf" in the House of Lords, but he does not want to quit politics altogether, and it is an opportunity to see all his old friends.

Concerning English politics, he said Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was "a very good showman, but he hasn't much to show."

He further expressed hope for De Gaulle's success in France. But he added, "It does no good to prophesy about French politics."

Earl Attlee elaborated on his approval of recognizing Red China. "Although you may recognize your neighbor coming down the street, you do not necessarily approve of him," he said.

England's former Prime Minister compared the present situation in Quemoy to what would have happened had Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown and then gone to Bermuda.

To the last question asked Earl Attlee replied, "I don't think I should criticize the foreign policy of a country of which I am a guest."

Placement Office Sets Next Week's Interviews

The Placement Service announced the following interviews for next week.

MONDAY, NOV. 10 — S. S. Kresge Co. will interview men in all fields interested in management training. The Pennsylvania Railroad will be interviewing engineers.

NOV. 10-12—The U. S. Marine Corp. officer information team will be in the SUB.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 12—R.C.A. will be seeking engineers.

THURSDAY, NOV. 13—Dayton Power and Light will be interviewing engineers and the Train Co. engineers. Parke Davis and Co. will interview science graduates at all levels. Monsanto Chemical Co. will be seeking chemistry and physics graduates and also chemical and mechanical engineers.

FRIDAY, NOV. 14 — Monsanto Chemical Co. will also interview on this day. The College Life Ins. Co. of America will interview men in all fields interested in investigating careers. In life insurance, Phillips Petroleum will be seeking mechanical, electrical, civil, and chemical engineers. Union Carbide Chemicals will be seeking mechanical and civil engineers and persons in applied mathematics. They are also looking for persons with a M. S. or B. S. in chemistry. The Carrier Corp. and the AVCO Mfg. Co. will be interviewing engineers.

Progress Not Inevitable, UK Press Director States

An alarming proportion of American scholarly writing is trivial and uninspired. Humanities Club members were told Tuesday night.

The roots of this feeling of cultural illness lie in the doctrine of progress, which for the past century has been the dominant force in America, Bruce F. Denbo, director of the UK Press, said in a lecture at the Fine Arts Building.

"The doctrine of progress is looked upon as a faith which, despite grave attacks from logic and from recent events, has still so great a secular sanctity that few orations from stump or civic club rostrum—or even from the pulpit—will fail to make some sort of appeal to progress, and fewer persons will question the basis of the belief because of its great hold on the American mind," he said.

American churches have also absorbed the prevailing belief in the perfectibility of man—that it is possible, through science and social techniques, to build an Eden on our own real estate," Denbo added.

He said this belief has been prevalent in America since colonial days, but in the past century the cult of progress has swept into all aspects of American life to produce a materialism which, it is believed, has captured not only the popular mind, but all of American culture, except some areas of the creative arts.

The director of the UK Press said hope engendered by the cult of progress—the expectation that science, both natural and social, will create a bright new world where evil and ignorance have virtually disappeared—has aroused a popular demand for institutions which will serve this hope rather than reality and truth.

Frustration and importance of the scholar, he added, arise from the alteration of traditional learning to emphasize fact finding and specialization. "a system which produces scholars so inundated with trivia that they emerge from our graduate schools with all passion spent."

SIDNEY CROUCH

MURPHY GREEN

2 A&S Students Honored For Month

Murphy Green and Sidney Crouch have been selected as October's man and woman of the month.

Both are Juniors in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Sidney is majoring in medical technology and has an overall standing of 3.2, was chairman of Leadership Conference, held from Oct. 17 to 19. She was chosen as woman of the month on the basis of her work with the conference.

In addition to her position with the Leadership Conference, Sidney is a member of Omicron and Links. She is a past member of Junior Panhellenic and was a counselor during rush. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Murphy Green is a pre-med major with a standing of 3.3. He is president of Keys and vice president of Lances. It was from his contributions with these organizations that he was selected as man of the month.

Murphy is president of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity, vice president of Phi Kappa Tau and on the steering committee of the Little Kentucky Derby.

The honors are awarded on the basis of scholastic standing, departmental achievement, leadership and participation in major activities. The selection is made by the Student Union Board committee composed of students and faculty.

Applications may be submitted by heads of University departments and students, on or before the third of the month following the following month.

Applications may be obtained from the Program Director's office in the SUB.

Pioneer II Ready

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Nov. 6 (AP)—An improved space probe, Pioneer II, waited out time, weather and good fortune tonight for a possible launching in the early hours of Friday.

The third of the air force lunar probes, specially equipped to correct deviations in its trajectory, appeared likely to have a royal sendoff.

If plans and schedules mesh properly the three-stage launching rocket, more than 83 feet tall, will hurl its 85-pound payload on fourth stage literally out of this world.

Community 'School' Meets Monday

"Groups Acting For Community Development" is the 1958 theme of the Community School-For-A-Day program to be held Monday at the SUB.

Sponsored by the Bureau of Community Service, the program is open to "every Kentuckian interested in his community." Emphasis will be placed on the particular things different groups can do to improve their communities.

Instruction will be given by professors in the University and leaders in business, libraries, churches, and other aspects of community development. All are specialists in their fields.

A luncheon will be served in the SUB ballroom from 12:00 to 1:30 p.m. with Dr. Willis A. Sutton Jr., Executive Director of Community Service, presiding. Price of the meal will be $1.50.

Keynote speaker at the luncheon will be Dr. Howard Y. McClusky, Professor of Educational Psychology, University of Michigan. He will speak on "The Promise and Challenge of Community Development."

Registration for the program will begin at 9 a.m. "school" closes at 4:00 p.m.

The courses, which meet from 10:00 to 11:45 a.m. and 1:45 to 2:45 p.m. are: "How to Balance Schools and Other Services with Taxes and Other Revenues, How Churches Work to Improve Their Communities, How the Library Contributes to Community Development, How Planning and Zoning Works for Your Community, How Civic Clubs Develop the Community" and "How Business Promotes Community Development."

The program will close with a convocation at 3 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom.

Around Campus

Home Ec Club

The Home Ec Club will hold a meeting tonight for new members as well as current members of the club.

New members are asked to attend the meeting at 6:15. The old members are to wait until 6:30 p. m. to attend. The meeting will be in the Home Economics building.

Judy Rollins will be the speaker on the subject "Purina in St. Louis".

Journalism Tea

The annual School of Journalism tea will be held at 3:30 p. m. today in the McGlaughlin Room in the journalism building. All journalism majors are invited.

Peace Study Group

"Towards a Science of Peace" will be discussed at the Peace Study Group meeting Monday, Nov. 10 at 8 p. m. in room 204 of the SUB. The public is invited.

First Friday Mass

A First Friday Mass will be offered at the Newman Club Chapel at 5 p. m. today. Confessions will be heard at 4:30 p. m.

SC Applications

The Students' Party and Campus Party will be taking applications beginning Monday for the fall election in the SC office, room 127 of the SUB.

Applications may be made between 3 and 5 p. m. for both parties.

Physies Club

The Physies Club will hold an organizational meeting Tuesday, Nov. 11 in room 201 of Pence Hall.

All physics majors, physics faculty and interested persons may attend. Refreshments will be served.

Lutheran Students

The Lutheran Students' Organization will have a dinner meeting Sunday at the home of Miss Nancy Dodge, Hume Road. Rides will be provided in front of Holmes and Kinkead Halls and Alpha Xi Delta sorority at 4:45 p. m.

Wesley Foundation

Mr. Ken Harper, YMCA Executive Secretary, will speak at the Wesley Foundation Sunday. The program will be preceded by a supper at 6 p. m.

Hillel

A Hillel dinner meeting will be held in the Temple Adath Israel at 5:30 p. m. Sunday. The program will consist of movies followed by a discussion. Pictures for the Kentuckian will be taken.

VA Open House

VA Open House Day at VA Hospital, from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m., will include displays, hospital tours, and information regarding careers in Hospitals and the V. A.

Open house from 7:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. will feature a panel discussion by Hospital Chiefs regarding operations and activities. Students and faculty are cordially invited.

SC Hearing Grid Seating Problems

At SC's next meeting Monday night, reports will be made concerning:

- (1) Enlargement of the student section at football games.
- (2) Provisions made for non-UK students to sit with their UK dates in the student section.
- (3) Dr. Dickey's decision as to whether students get the day off preceding the Tennessee game.
- (4) Plans for a "bigger and better" Homecoming next year.

The meeting at 7 p. m. in the court room of the Law Building is open to all UK students. No more than 15 non-representative attended the last meeting.

Portrait To Be Unveiled

The Department of Mathematics and Astronomy will officially present the portrait of Dr. Harold Hardesty Downing to the University on Sunday at 3 in room 111 of McVey Hall.

Dr. Downing, now retired, has been with the University for more than half a century. He is co-author of a book in analytical geometry, and is in the process of writing an analytical trigonometry text.

He has contributed to mathematics journals, and is governor of the Kentucky section of the Mathematics Association of America. Dr. Downing is also on the editorial board of Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity.

Speakers at the presentation will be Prof. Thomson Ripley Bryant, former classmate of Dr. Downing; President Emeritus Herman Lee Donovan, who studied under Dr. Downing in same room in which the presentation is to be made; Prof. Samuel Jacob Jasper, who did graduate work under Dr. Downing; and Prof. Sallie E. Pence, a colleague of Downing's.

The unveiling of the portrait will be by Downing's two granddaughters. President Dickey will accept the portrait.

Trustees To Meet

The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees will hold a meeting Saturday, in President Dickey's office.

Those persons constituting the Executive Committee are: Mr. R. P. Hobson, Chairman; Mr. Ralph Angelucci; Mr. Louis Cox; Mr. Harper Gatton, and Mr. J. Stephen Watkins.

Breeders Re-elect Rupp

Coach Adolph Rupp was elected president of the Kentucky Horse-Breeding Association for the sixth straight year at a meeting of the board of directors of the organization Wednesday night.

The meeting followed the annual banquet at the Lafayette Hotel held in connection with the Register of Merit Show at Keeneland Race Course.

The directors ignored a plea of Coach Rupp that another president be named. Several declared that he had done an outstanding job.

Some added that the Kentucky association is recognized nationally because of his hard work.

Coach Rupp was toastmaster at the banquet attended by breeders and University and Commonwealth officials.

'Dr. Zhivago' In Library

"Doctor Zhivago" has arrived at the Margaret I. Kane library.

According to Dr. Lawrence Thompson, director of libraries, there is a waiting list for the Nobel Prize-winning novel.

Written by Boris Pasternak, the book is a criticism of communism. Announcement of its winning two weeks caused an international controversy.

"Doctor Zhivago" was ordered before its selection as the Nobel Prize winner was made. Dr. Thompson said, but apparently was delayed in shipment.

The Lexington Public Library reported last night that it had no copies of the Pasternak novel.

A Drama In One Act

(Scene: The Student Union Building. Time is 7:30 p.m., a day in November, 1958. A leading organization—known for its exclusiveness, its contributions to campus life, and the savoir faire of its members—is meeting.)

"Time for roll call—quiet please. Thomas, call the roll."

"Sidney Linkhead."

"Present . . . Now, Thomas, the report."

"All present and accounted for, Sidney."

"Now that we're all here, what shall we discuss?"

"Search me . . . How did your standing come out, Sidney?"

"4.0 . . . How did you do?"

"3.9."

". . . Hmm, what happened, Thomas?"

fessors are . . . Oh, did it hurt me . . ."

"Yes, I can understand. But I suppose it was social pressure . . ."

"Yes, social pressure . . . by the way, who is wanting to pledge us?"

"Some character named Eisenhower."

"Go to UK?"

"I don't know—I haven't seen him on my half of the campus—what about yours?"

"Nope, not on my half . . . I heard another rushee—Nixon or something—has been rushing him . . . Gung-ho . . ."

"Yes . . . what's next on business?"

"I want to blackball the Physics Department from campus."

"How can we do that?"

"Vote first."

"All in favor say aye."

"Aye."

"Any more business?"

"Nope."

"Adjourned."

"Thank you."

Tobacco: Drug In A Drag

By ARTHUR EDSON

Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON — Possibly no other plant has matched tobacco at stirring up controversy. Either you're for it or you're against it, wholeheartedly, and if any neutrals are about, they keep their mouths shut.

It's always been that way.

Scarcely had Jean Nicot, the French ambassador to Portugal from 1559 to 1561, reported on the wonders of tobacco to a gullible Europe than the most fantastic claims were made.

"This plant began to be famous throughout all Portugal for ulcers of the leg, ringworm, and scrofula," says an old report.

"The lord of Jarnac caused the nicotine"—(named appropriately for Jean Nicot) — "to be distilled and drank, mingled with water of Euphrasia, otherwise called eyebright, by one that was short-breathed or asthmatic. And it cured him."

Despite the lord of Jarnac's fine experience with a swig of tobacco and eyebright, King James of England was unimpressed. In 1604 he wrote a "counter-blaste to tobacco," but, as you may have noticed, this didn't succeed in stamping out the habit forever.

The extent of his failure is pointed up in a new study, supported by the tobacco industry, that drifted in in a fragrant cloud of tobacco smoke.

Its title: "Medical Uses of Tobacco, Past and Present," written for the Virginia Medical Monthly by H. Silvette, P. S. Larson and H. B. Haag, M. D., of Richmond, Va.

Even in its scholarly language, the report makes interesting reading.

Did you ever think, for example, of using tobacco to cure baldness? Well, a medical report of 1838 said it had been used, and it had worked.

Other cures, or attempted cures, were just as remarkable: "Valuable treatment for worms" . . . tobacco enemas to stop hemorrhoidal bleeding . . . pungent snuff to cure the hicoughs . . . one mother rubbed her small girl vigorously with a mixture of writing ink and scrapings from an old tobacco pipe . . . she thought it might cure the child's ringworm; but unfortunately the youngster got nicotine poisoning.

Most schools now have a rule against smoking. But during the great plague in London (1665) students were encouraged to puff away.

Authorities figured it would ward off the dread disease.

A few years earlier Edmund Gardiner wrote: "The suffumigation of tobacco being taken, is a good medicine for the starknesse or stiffness of neck called tetanus, for any pains or aches in the body proceeding of the cause that tetanus doth."

But not only tetanus. At one time or another tobacco was considered good for tuberculosis, gout, the common cold, rheumatism, smallpox, cholera or skin diseases.

Sometimes these beliefs were disastrous, as this will show:

"A seven-day-old infant was given two tablespoons full of water impregnated with tobacco smoke to induce quietness through the night; unfortunately, fatal nicotine poisoning resulted."

Kernels:

Being asked whether it was better to marry or not, he replied, "Which ever you do, you will repent it." — Diogenes Laertius.

The World's Economy

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

Experts all over the world are studying conflicting economic tendencies for elusive clues to the future.

No one is predicting anything like a general collapse. Few are coming up with blue prints for any general stability, either.

Business in the United States is showing signs of boom again after a recession which was serious in some fields and hardly-felt in others.

On the other side of the coin, Britain, which in 1957 had the best trade year of modern times, is facing cutbacks. Unemployment is increasing. While the U. S. government is taking tentative steps toward checking a return to inflation, the British are relaxing controls in a bootstrap operation.

Oddly enough, while Detroit was in the doldrums—and doesn't know yet whether the new cars will really pull it out—the British automobile industry was booming. Its small cars, which many Americans thought was the answer, were booming exports.

Now the British automobile industry is having a recession.

The Colombo Plan, designed 10 years ago for the development of South and Southeast Asia, has become something of a holding operation rather than a dynamic force. The aid given by the United States, Britain, Canada, Japan, New Zealand and Austria is barely keeping abreast of the annual 10 million increase in the area's population, which is now 650 millions.

Political unrest in such countries as Burma, Pakistan, Indonesia and Thailand has damaged both their ability to make use of aid and their standing as borrowers from international funds.

An increase in these funds is now being worked out. This is also an effort to increase the flow of trade between Britain and the members of the Commonwealth, and between the Commonwealth and the dollar area.

Soviet Russia's contribution to instability, through dumping and other politically inspired trade practices, is beginning to be noticeable in some fields, causing some unsettlement of raw material prices.

Possible results of the Communist economic war are among the inponderable factors which so complicate the equations of the experts.

Even in West Germany, which has been enjoying an ever-growing boom and rapidly increasing foreign trade since stabilization of the mark in 1948, industry is slowing down.

France's devotion of a great part of her resources to colonial wars, has made her postwar recovery spotty. Her government's fiscal position is constantly unstable.

The Readers' Forum

Fuss Isn't News

To The Editor:

I hate to disillusion you, but your article of Wednesday concerning the sorority squabble is not news. It started a long time before last weekend.

The whole mess is much deeper-seated than just the events of Homecoming weekend. The "squabble" has been going on all this year at least, and perhaps can be traced back to previous years. How it has been kept quiet this long is a mystery to me.

Perhaps the position taken by Suky is indicative of everyone's feelings on the situation. They, while in a position of authority, were perfectly content to keep quiet and take no action, either positive or negative.

Maybe their defense would be that it isn't their job to solve sorority grievances. That, while it is true, isn't pertinent to this situation. Homecoming is an event that involves many more people than the sororities. The students, if no one else, have a right to know.

I can sympathize with them in the sense that they were cramped for time, but a complete report of the incidents should have been made public as soon as possible.

To let this silly controversy go on unabated would be ridiculous. But it has been going on for quite some time in this manner. This, in my opinion, indicates a weakness in the Panhellenic Council, governing body of the sororities.

Are they completely unaware of the situation? Have they been blissfully ignorant while this has been building up among the sororities? This, to me, is inconceivable.

Maybe they just don't care.

About "Dr. Zhivago"

To The Editor:

We note with mirth that the Kernel has goofed again.

You are urged to consider the issue before you blast the students of the University.

The UK library (has) an excellently cross-referenced card catalogue, installed in most libraries for the express purpose of taking the place of requests of the librarians as to whether a certain book is in circulation.

If a student (desires) to borrow a book from the UK collection he usually goes to the aforementioned card catalogue. If the book is not in the catalogue, it is not in the collection, and no amount of "requests" will make it possible for the student to check it out.

Was the Kernel familiar with the procedure?

How do you know how many students had wanted to read the book, and when they found it not listed in the card catalogue, scurried back to the browsing section of the library to read their comic books? Or were you there, Mr. Editor, with your hand on the tray marked "Pa," all the time, proving beyond a shadow of a doubt that no one had investigated the possibility of UK's library having a copy?

As a matter of fact, kind sir, I was at the library myself Sunday afternoon, looking for Pasternak's book, and I saw neither you nor the listing in the catalogue. Your editorial has cut me to the quick; and believe me, comrade, that's a helluva way to go through life: with a cut quick!

Games, Parties, Jam Sessions Highlight Week

By ANN ROBERTS

Homecoming, 1958, is all over now, except for a few hangovers here and there, and occasional scattered debris from the Homecoming displays. Don't be sad because it's over though (as if anyone could with such a wonderful game) because there are more big events to celebrate before this semester is over.

Before I start telling you about what's happening next week let me congratulate Diane Vittitoe, queen of the 1958 Homecoming and her attendants, Nina Warren and Ann Woodward . . . also . . . Chi O's, Tri Deltas, Pi Kaps, Deltas and Keeneland Hall who took honors in the displays. Let me add my own honorable mentions to all the other groups who put so much work into their displays and to the other beautiful girls in the queen contest.

Another big ball game is coming

Debaters Attend Regionals

The UK debate team will participate in the Tau Kappa Alpha Regional Forensics Conference Saturday at the University of Cincinnati.

Debate and discussion problems will be on the agenda for students from Ohio, Kentucky, and Pennsylvania colleges.

UK debaters who will argue on the affirmative side of the question to be debated are Michael Brown, Tex Fitzgerald, Lessley Becker and Deno Curris.

Upholding the negative side for UK will be Ronald Polly, Richard Roberts, Lowell Thomas and Henry Hawken.

The question for debate concerns whether or not the further development of nuclear weapons should be prohibited by international agreement.

UK will be represented in discussion by Marietta Foraker and Anne Whitaker. The topic for discussion is, "How can we best improve our relations with Latin America?"

up this weekend as the Cats tackle Vandy at 2 p. m. tomorrow on Stoll Field. The word is that this is to be an informal event, since the game is in the afternoon, and everyone is dressing casual. This means school clothes and hobby sox are in order and it sounds like a very good idea, so let's all support it.

Tomorrow night is your last chance to see "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" now playing at Guignol and may I suggest that everyone try to see it. The play will be on tonight, starting at 8:30.

Next Wednesday, the SUB is sponsoring a Jam Session for all students at the SUB Ballroom. Admission is free and Little Enos will be there. If you don't have classes between two and five that day why don't you drop over . . . stag or drag.

I've heard rumors that there is a new social organization on campus but I can't find out too much about it. It seems they call themselves "The Tranquillizers" and meet whenever possible. Must be a very secret organization!

In case you haven't seen all the posters and signs in the Grill and all over campus, get set for a big surprise. There will be a Kai Winding concert next Thursday night at Joyland Casino featuring "The Trombone Sound". The concert is open to everyone and tickets are available at Kennedy's Book Store. The Winding Septet was here last spring as some of you may remember and the jazz sounds produced by this group are really terrific. Tickets are $3.50 a couple.

There is also another treat in store for jazz fans this Sunday afternoon when Eroll Garner takes over the Bell Gymnasium in Frankfort for a concert. The concert sponsored by Kentucky State College, starts at 4 p. m. and tickets are $2.00 in advance. They may be obtained at Cloud's Record City on Ashland Ave. in Lexington.

There are all kinds of parties going on tomorrow night such as the ZBT French Party, the Phi Tau Pajama Party, the SAE dance and the Delta party at the Del Rose Club. The Pi Kaps are also having a house party and Farm House is having a Chili Supper at their house.

In addition to all that, Pershing Rifles is having their Coronation Ball at the SUB tomorrow night, starting at 8:00 and the Women's Inter-Dorm Dance is tonight at the SUB.

Be sure to turn your pinnings engagements, marriages and other social news in to the Kernel Office at the Journalism Building.

Wildcats Take On Vanderbilt In Battle Of SEC Back Stars

By SCOTTIE HELT

It's Kentucky versus Vanderbilt tomorrow afternoon and the Wildcats will be trying for their second win in a row over an SEC power.

Actually, the Colliermen will be encountering a team which is undefeated in Conference play; although being picked in pre-season polls to vacate the loop's number 10 ranking position.

The UK rejuvenated, go-for-broke troupe and Vandy's talent-laden Commodores should present one of the most interesting clashes scheduled for the Stoll Field lot in some time. Each has come up with surprising wins against favored opposition, and each has a number of individual standouts that rate high on SEC statistic lists.

A glance at the stat indicates that this could be a real wide-open affair with fans getting the opportunity to see a whole host of outstanding ball players in action.

Tom Moore, the All-SEC half-back candidate, has picked up a total of 44 yards rushing for a 4.1 average to gain the runner-up spot to sensational Billy Cannon of LSU in this department. UK's rushing leaders are number five ranking Bobby Cravens with 335 yards and a 5.5 mean and the SEC's 10th best runner, Glenn Shaw, who has 217 yards for a 5.5 par.

Vandy completely dominates the punt return department as no less than three Commodores are listed in the top ten in the league. Dave Ray leads with 161 yards returned, star quarterback Boyce Smith is fourth with 101 yards and Mack Rolfe is sixth with 99 yards.

The Cats have an edge in pass receiving by virtue of Calvin Bird's league-leading 19 for 330 yards total. In succession comes UK's Ronnie Cain fifth, and Vandy's Rooster Akin and Moore in the 10th and 13th slots respectively.

Smith is second among the league signal-callers with his 38 pass completions in 77 throws good for 473 yards. He leads in matter of TD passes with six.

Calvin Bird is way out ahead in scoring with 52 points to his

Kentucky's Keys To Victory

Keys to Kentucky's victory over Vanderbilt Saturday afternoon are these rugged interior linemen. The Wildcats' ability to stop the slashing, powerful running attack of Vandy backs like Tom Moore and Jim Butler will play the leading role in UK's second straight conference credit. This mark ranks seventh nationally.

Coach Art Guep's team is being mentioned in some circles as a definite choice for this year's Gator Bowl encounter. Such rave notices have been prompted by a 4-1-2 slate that shows wins over Missouri, Georgia, Virginia and Miami (Fla.). The two ties, both against Conference foes, were picked up against Alabama and Florida. Only team to get the best of the Commodores was the highly-rated Clemson team and then only by 12-7.

A win over the blue and white would leave only Tennessee and Tulane, in the way of an undefeated SEC season.

Despite the loss of outstanding lineman George Boone for the remainder of the season, Collier should have at his command the best physically-able squad he has had to work with in weeks. Lowell Hughes will probably get his starting quarterback job back this time, although coaches and fans can breathe a little easier now that Leeman Bennett and Jerry Eisaman have shown they can run the show when called upon.

A starting Kentucky lineup is expected to look about the same as it did in the great Mississippi State effort.

Frosh Risk String In Season Finale

Annexation of undefeated season number three in a row will be the object of Kentucky's freshman-football Kittens in their season finale at Knoxville Saturday night.

A secondary aim will be to capture the third consecutive win over a University of Tennessee frosh force for the first time in the 23-game history of the neighboring-state rivalry. A UK victory on the Evans-Collins High School Field would also give the locals 12 wins against 12 losses in the series in this, the rubber game.

Both the Kittens and the Baby Vols have met the Vanderbilt first-year men and the Kentucky freshmen tied that lone common foe, 6-6, whereas the orange and white were defeated at Nashville, 6-0, on a last minute desperation pass. Thus, Coach Ed Rutledge's crew should rate as a touchdown favorite.

The men of Coach Bobby Proctor lost their only other contest of the year to a good Georgia Tech team, 26-6, while the Kitten bunch made their record 1-0-1

Sigma Nu Wins Title

Sigma Nu won the championship in the Fraternity Division of the flag football league with a 12-6 win over Phi Gamma Delta on the I-M field Wednesday night.

Sigma Nu met the Band last night in the championship game of the league. The Band won the Independent Championship with a 22-12 victory over BSU Tuesday night.

Don Blevins started scoring for the Sigma Nu team in sparking the win. He raced 40 yards for the score.

However, it was Dave Fuller who won the game for Sigma Nu with a touchdown romp that gave them the title.

The Phi Gam's only score came when Jim Williams chomaxed a long drive with an eight-yard dash. PGD couldn't push across the tying touchdown in the last half.

Sigma Nu had advanced to the Fraternity Division finals with an exciting 25-24 conquest of Phi Kappa Tau Tuesday night.

A long pass in the final minute of the game won the semi-final game for Sigma Nu. Phi Kappa Tau had gone ahead with a TD in the last two minutes.

The Dope Sheet

By
SCOTTIE HELT

Although Coach Adolph Rupp is rightfully praised as being probably the world's most successful basketball coach by American roundball enthusiasts, there is a man who stands in the shadow of "the old master" who deserves a great deal of credit. The Baron's able assistant, Coach Harry Lancaster, is the fellow who has the job of grooming future material for the varsity as the UK freshman basketball tutor.

LANCASTER

The fact that last year's Kitten team posted an outstanding 16-1 mark, including 15 in a row, was recognized as one of the greatest efforts by a Kentucky yealing quintet since the days of Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey. However, the thing that is overlooked is that Lancaster has been coming up with teams that have produced records of that caliber ever since he gained his present position in 1919.

The ex-Georgetown College star has actually directed UK freshman teams to 85 wins in 95 starts in the last nine years. That figures out to be a percentage of .894 or an average record per year of 9-1. That's not bad in any league.

Leading the pack will be 6-1 guard Larry Pursiful from Bell County. Pursiful is the only squad member who was named to the number one unit of the 1957-58 All-State team.

Center Allen Feldhaus, Boone Co.; guard Eddie Mason, Elizabethtown; and forward Mike Surface, Butler; all were named to the All-State second team.

Those receiving honorable mention in the rankings were forwards Harry Hurd from nearby Elkhorn and Jim McDonald, member of the reigning St. Xavier High School State Champion team.

The lone out-of-stater on the ball club is 6-4 forward, Roy Roberts, from Northside in Atlanta, Ga.

Herky Rupp, son of the famous UK mentor, is trying to make the team without the aid of a grant-in-aid. The 6-4, 170 pound forward was a top performer for the University High Purples a year ago.

Ken Kuhn, UK Director of Sports Publicity, has announced that "Parade to National Champs," a 40 minute sound film, which gives the highlights of the '57-58 dramatic road that led the Wildcats to the NCAA basketball Championship, is now available to groups for showing. Narrated by Coach Rupp, it can be rented by writing the UK Extension Dept.

Undefeated UK Harriers Vie Saturday

By JOHN BAXTER

Kentucky football fans will have a chance to see UK's undefeated cross-country team Saturday when the Wildcat harriers run against Memphis State.

The meet is scheduled to start at 1:33 sharp from the goal line of Stoll Field. The runners follow a trail around the Kentucky campus and finish on the 30-yard line precisely after the band finishes the National Anthem. The course is four miles.

Kentucky duo of E. G. Plummer and Press Whelan have led the Wildcats in every meet this campaign. Only one meet has marred their record for finishing first and second of the four already won by the Cats.

with a 40-22 rout of Cincinnati's Bearkittens.

The future Wildcat stars will be led into the fray by a quartet of backfield men, all of whom have been able to gain needed yardage when called upon. Fullback David Gash is the top ground getter with 109 yards while halfbacks Nick Norcia, Jimmy Best and Ted Harless follow close behind with marks of 87, 76 and 46 yards respectively. Charles Henderson actually ranks fourth with 63 yards but quit the team following the Cincinnati game.

UK's Dr. W.L. Carr, 83, Has Taught For 60 Years

By MEREDA JEAN DAVIS

"I will teach as long as anyone will let me," Dr. W. L. Carr said today. He will complete 60 years of teaching next June. He is 83 years old.

The Greek and Latin professor credited his long life to plenty of exercise. He says that he exercises by "strutting in the classroom, walking to and from class, and walking to and from school." Dr. Carr was asked how far he walked to class each day so he decided to measure it and find out. He discovered that he walks more than a half-mile four times a day.

Dr. Carr came to UK in June 1948 as a visiting professor for the summer session. He returned to Colby College in Waterville, Maine for the 1948-49 school year. Dr. Jonah Skiles invited him to come to UK as a visiting part-time professor in the newly formed Ancient Language Department in 1949.

Receiving his master's degree in the Department of Greek and Latin in June 1899, he began teaching in the summer session at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa. After teaching there for three years, he did graduate work at the University of Chicago.

During the 60 years Dr. Carr has been teaching, he has spent almost every summer teaching in summer sessions. He says that he sees no point in taking the summers off to rest; he prefers to remain active.

Dr. Carr has taught at Oberlin College, University of Michigan, Teachers College at Columbia University and Colby College besides UK. After retiring as a full-time professor in 1941, he has worked as a visiting professor on a part-time basis.

Interdorm Prom

The Residence Halls for Women will present their Fall Prom tonight at 8:30 in the SUB ballroom.

Featuring Buddy Rogers' band from Cincinnati, the dance is semi-formal with no corsages.

Miss Margaret Storey, director of women's residence halls, says that the dance is by invitation only. Invitations must be presented at the door.

American schools was brought about by the published report of a committee in 1924. Dr. Carr was a member of this committee. The new method emphasizes the functional approach rather than the old grammatical approach.

At present, Dr. Carr is associate editor of "The Classical Outlook," a monthly publication concerned with the improved practice of teaching Latin. He has published articles and books since 1908. He was joint author of "The Living Language: A Latin Book for Beginners" published in 1933.
